KENNETH F. HAINES, JR. JOINS NAUTILUS AS DIRECTOR OF CONSULTING GROUP

COMMACK, NY – Sept 1, 2007 – Nautilus Consulting announces that Ken Haines has joined the firm as Director in the Commack, New York office, where he will manage its expanding construction claims consulting practice. Mr. Haines is a nationally renowned expert in the preparation and evaluation of construction claims and in the resolution of construction disputes. For more than 20 years, he has represented both owners and contractors in the preparation, evaluation and defense of hundreds of millions of dollars in claimed damages involving delay, acceleration, inefficiency and other impacts including differing site conditions and design deficiencies.

In this time, Mr. Haines has managed a great variety of construction disputes involving highways, bridges, airports, wastewater treatment plants, government installations, courthouses, commercial projects, residential housing developments, power plants, sports stadia and convention centers. He has extensive experience in all facets of the dispute resolution process, has provided expert witness testimony in litigation and arbitration proceedings and has also participated in numerous mediation hearings. He is skilled at providing litigation support services for counsel, including witness preparation, interrogatory preparation & responses as well as cross examination questions for opposing witnesses.

Mr. Haines has also written articles on the topics of construction claims and project management, and has presented seminars to numerous construction professionals throughout the country on issues pertaining to project management, claims prevention, delay analysis and the calculation of delay and productivity damages. Most recently, he was a partner and Regional Manager for an international construction consulting firm. He is a graduate of Manhattan College, New York, and holds both a Bachelors and Masters degree in Civil Engineering. He has also been certified as a Certified Forensic Claims Consultant by the Association for the Advancement of Cost Engineering (AACE).
