Commack, NY - March 12, 2007 The principals of Nautilus Consulting, Tom Sinacore and Ian Street, were part of the first group of professionals to earn the exclusive and prestigious Certified Forensic Claims Consultants (CFCC) designation offered by AACE International (www.aacei.org). Sinacore and Street were two of an elite group of only 20 nationally to pass the exam.

This achievement makes Nautilus Consulting the only firm in the country with professionals that have individually obtained all three premier industry certifications: Certified Forensic Claims Consultant (CFCC), Certified Cost Engineer (CCE) and Planning & Scheduling Professional (PSP). Both Ian and Tom had previously obtained the CCE and PSP certifications.

For 25 years the AACE International has been offering various accredited certifications with the intent of recognizing specialists who meet a demanding set of criteria through a rigorous examination, industry experience, education and ethical qualifications.

While a number of professionals work in the claims and dispute field or serve as expert witnesses, until now there was no way to effectively measure and validate their capabilities. The CFCC is designed to elevate professional standards, enhance individual performance, and designate individuals who demonstrate the knowledge essential to the practice of dispute resolution.

Nautilus is a national construction consulting firm, specializing in construction claims analysis and associated damage calculation. With a strong emphasis on utilizing practical and court- tested methodologies, Nautilus has experts capable of analyzing the impact of change, delay, acceleration, inefficiency, damage, and other issues common in a construction dispute.
